Senior Class Creed

We, the Senior Class of Wadesboro High School, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred thirty-five, do believe that a high school education is of the highest importance to an individual and that in order to procure the greatest possible benefits from such a high school education we must co-operate to the best of our individual ability with our teachers, our superintendent, and our classmates. We believe that the academic course of study is of primary importance, but that extra-curricular activities are highly beneficial.

We believe that, as Seniors, we should set the precedent in good behavior, good sportsmanship and right attitude, and be above reproach in keeping all our high school rules and regulations.

We believe that inasmuch as athletics strength the body and stimulate the brain, they should be included in our high school course.

We believe that in high school we should develop and train ourselves in the principles of straight thinking, strength of character, and temperance in all things, so that upon graduation we shall be better fitted to live full, righteous lives as citizens of the United States or of any other country in which our lot may be cast.

FOREWORD

For the first time in twelve years Wadesboro High School is again publishing an annual. Through its pages we have tried to portray to you our high school life. We have pushed back the curtain of the past and lifted the veil of the future. Between the lines are written the high spots and the low spots; the good times and the bad times; the joys and the sorrows of our past four years. We trust that this pictured story of our high school days will mean as much to you as it has to us in publishing it. With this hope the Seniors present the

1935 ROINES

TO THE CLASS OF 1935:

You are entering into the fuller and more serious responsibilities of life at a momentous period in history.

New and formidable social and economic frontiers await the solutions you have to offer to the multitudinous questions which our generation have not been able to solve both at home and in the world at large.

A larger leisure will be yours to improve or to waste. A more careful and reasoning attention to the art of living is necessary now. Let not your chief aim in life be the making of a living, but see to it that it be the making of a life.

If your sojourn in Wadesboro High School has in any way helped to improve you and to make you wiser and better, we are glad. If you have in some manner by th's experience caught a wider vision of what you may be, we are indeed happy.

Smooth—Not too smooth—sailing, and happy landings!

FRANKLIN R. RICHARDSON.

PAUL THOMPSON, Captain

Brawn and speed, coupled with good sportsmanship and the bravery of a lion have made Paul one of the greatest players Wadesboro High School has ever produced. His record as Captain of the 1935 Football Team will long be remembered.

"COACH"

JOHN ODOM, Guard
L. L. ODOM, Tackle

For three consecutive years the Odom brothers have played side by side on W. H. S. Varsity Football Team. They are the backbone of every attack and the suppressors of every threat. Let's "give them a hand" and a good wish for the future.

FOOTBALL TEAM A SUCCESS

The current football squad "made history" for Wadesboro High School. From the first game, the boys displayed great power in the line and good work in the backfield. Tackling, side-stepping, twisting, stiff-arming and changing pace were performed to perfection. The mental attitude of all the players was good and they worked hard throughout the season.

CLASS HISTORY

BOOK I Chapter I

In the year 1934 we boarded the good ship "Education" to begin our voyage on the sea of "learning". Parents, friends, and guardians accompanied us to the dock and placed us in charge of Misses Hattie Mae Covington and Mary Plunkett, commanders of our ship for the first year of our travel. While traveling we were stranded on the island of A, B, C's where we met "Baby Ray."

Chapter II

During our second year Misses Mabel Nall and Elizabeth Webb had the honor of being commanders of our ship. As time rolled on, the sea became rough and part of our crew were thrown overboard. The survivors sailed on into another year with Mrs. Eleanor Gray and Miss Julia Cameron as commanders. We advanced far onto the sea of learning and it was not long before we felt that we knew as much as our superiors.

BOOK II Chapter I

With our fourth year came exams and also an added study, geography, into which we were plunging more deeply everyday. We had an epidemic of measles and practically half of our crew were seized with this disease. Even one of our commanders, Miss Nannie Gullledge, fell a victim to the epidemic.

Chapter II

Misses Kate Leak and Ann LeSturgeon steered our ship into smooth waters. History was added to our list of studies this year and, believe it or not, dear listener, it was as dry to us, at that time, as this is to you, if that could be possible.

BOOK III Chapter I

Junior High! We had advanced so far in the sea of learning that it was necessary to have four commanders to teach us the required subjects. Again we entered rough waters, and several of our crew were lost in the struggle to reach safety. At the end of our Junior High career we were expecting to have a grand commencement program, but everybody was so glad to get rid of us that Mr. M. H. Johnston threw our diplomas to us from the fire escape and told us to run with them before they decided to take them back.

BOOK IV Chapter I

We entered the last lap of our voyage very eager and yet rather green. Most of our first few days were spent in running from door to door trying to find numbers that corresponded to those on our registration cards. To us this year came a new admiral, Mr. F. R. Richardson, and an added member to our crew, "Tony" Richardson. Our new admiral introduced to us an entirely new system, the Student Government. Jack Winfree and Sarah Virginia Dunlap represented us in this organization. Even though our crew was young, we tried our art in athletics. Mrs. Dockery and Miss Hollowell, our commanders, steered us a long and helpful way, especially in English and Latin. Ethel York Kiker and Sara Virginia Dunlap served as marshals because of their high scholarship.

Chapter II

We continued our traveling, but now under the leadership of new commanders, Miss James and Mr. Caddell. During this part of the trip the boys and girls were placed on entirely different decks. The girls' class formed a "Travelers' Club" and were lucky enough to win each holiday offered through attendance at P. T. A. meetings. Representatives on The Student Council this year were "Tony" Richardson, Paul Thompson, Billy Snyder and Virginia May. Several members of our crew made good in athletics. Added to our group of sailors was Bradford Smith. Ethel York Kiker, Sara Virginia Dunlap, and Margaret Tice were commencement marshals this year.

Chapter III

With the whole crew combined on one deck we were still sailing with our former commander, Mrs. Dockery, steering us. The voyage was directed toward the port Junior-Senior, and President Winfree and crew spent all their efforts in preparation for the landing. New honors came to a number of our group during this third year. Virginia May was vice-president of the Student Council and Sara Virginia Dunlap was our representative. The president was assisted in his official duties by Dura Tice, and Louisa Sloan. The citizenship cup was awarded to Susannah Thomas. Sarah Virginia Dunlap, Margaret Tice, Ethel York Kiker and Susannah Thomas won the distinction of being marshals.

Chapter IV

The fourth year brought smooth waters, troubled waters, calm and distress; but it was characterized by a spirit of comradeship and co-operation (girls with girls and boys with boys). Our new commander was Miss Katharine Hilliard, who also steered us through the English Channel. New members added to our crew were Lucile Eddins and John Odom, who joined us at the beginning of the year. The most important event of the first half year was a chapel program so successful that it was repeated at a P. T. A. meeting. We passed safely through the turbulent waters of examinations—the first time we had gone through them in several years. Early in March we were overtaken by a heavy hail storm and were forced to drop anchor for three days because of serious damage to our vessel. On May 2 we were entertained by the Juniors at "The Captain's Dinner." We came very near being "Hoodooed" in May when we attempted to present a senior play. We ran upon the rocks twice, but were saved by the patience and long-suffering of our coach and so had a successful performance. The National Honor Society had six seniors on its roll, Sara Virginia Dunlap, Ethel York Kiker, Susannah Thomas, Donnell Davidson, Margaret Tice, and Bill Snyder.

We decided near the end of our voyage to venture into uncharted seas and publish a year book, THE ROINES, which was a great success.

We landed in the Harbor of Commencement, May 24, 1935.

SAM LILES (Right)

This annual would not be complete without mention of Sam—janitor of Wadesboro High School for the past twenty-one years. When we think of Sam we think of loyalty, faithfulness to duty, courtesy, and industry.
